We are the only independent full line supplier of InLace brand inlay supplies.

InLace Book .com gladly offers free Artist Gallery pages to anyone wishing to showcase pictures of their work. You are not required to be a customer. This is a service provided to anyone in the InLace community.

As our name implies, InLace Book .com is looking well beyond simply being first choice as a liquid inlay supplier. We are in the process of clarifying product usage information and preparing projects for a publication dedicated to the brand. InLace Book .com is a community of users with a common interest and is the informational resource of choice.

We charge 'actual cost' of shipping only - USPS Priority Mail - no added 'fees' or 'handling charges' - ever. All orders received, packed, and paid before 4:30pm EST Monday through Friday, will ship that day. Orders ready for shipment after that time will ship the next business day. Note: We also ship on Saturday; 11:00am EST is the cutoff time, but this also means that all late Friday orders will ship on Saturday. Orders that are not shipped 'same day' will ship the next business day.

Available in ten pre-mixed custom colors, as well as Clear, the InLace resin inlay system is the ideal choice for a wide range of craftspeople and artisans who want to incorporate an inlay into their wood, gourd, or stone projects. The Kit is the basis of this inlay system.

Every Kit includes one can of resin, one bottle of Hardener, one ounce measuring cups, three ounce measuring cups, stirrers, and instructions. Small Kits contain 4 ounces of pigmented resin (8 ounces Clear). Large Kits contain 8 ounces of pigmented resin (16 ounces Clear).

If using the Clear Kit, every aspect of the inlay is under the complete control of the artisan. Additives are mixed into the Clear resin to customize color and texture. The many potential combinations of this inlay system allow for the creation of a wide range of InLace 'recipes'. This brings new excitement to carvings, gourdcraft, wood bowls, turnings, guitar inlays, and more. Many artisans can benefit from this product because amazing decorative effects are achieved by filling carved areas, recessed areas, and voids.

If using a pigmented kit, the user is beginning with a 'base' inlay that is 'ready to go' and can be used 'as is' with excellent results, or customized with the use of InLace additives.

Simply pour an appropriate amount of resin into the provided measuring cup, mix in additives if desired, add Thicken-It if necessary, and add the needed amount of Hardener. Then, mix into a paste-like consistency and proceed with the inlay. InLace 'sets up' in 12 to 15 minutes. It cures in 12 hours, ready to be sanded and finished using standard woodworking techniques and finishes.

If 'small batching' but also using additives, we recommend using the 1 ounce measuring cup to get an accurate measure of the resin, and then transferring to a three ounce measuring cup so that additives can be easily introduced and thoroughly mixed.

InLace Book .com carries the complete line of products: every size and color of Kit, Nuggets, Granules, Metallic Dusts, Stone Flakes, Metallic Dyes, Pearl Dyes, and Solid - Opaque Dyes. InLace Book .com also carries every ancillary item: Buffing Compound, Polishing Compound, Thicken-It, Hardener, 1 ounce measuring cups, 3 ounce measuring cups, and stirrers.

When selecting kits, be sure to also check out the additives which are used to customize both the color and texture of the final inlay. Every user has the opportunity to create a unique InLace 'recipe' - a 'signature' inlay.
